POSSE KILLS ONE NIEBEL SLAYER; CAPTURES SECOND IN GUN FIGHT

KILLERS NOTCH NO. 6 AND 7—Only a few hours before their capture near Van Wert, the two Ohio State Reformatory parolees, John C. West and Robert Murl Daniels, killed their sixth and seventh victims near Tiffin last night and early today. Top left, Grover Leopold, deputy sheriff of Seneca county (Tiffin), points on a map to the scene of the murder of his friend, James (Smitty) Smith, 25, a farmer. Top right, the car abandoned by the killers at a state park 10 miles north of Tiffin quickly was linked, through articles found in it, to the slaying in Mansfield of John Elmer Niebel, 50, superintendent of the 1,600-acre Ohio Reformatory farm; his wife, Nolana, 51, and their daughter, Phyllis, 20. The two-tone gray 1947 two-door Pontiac is shown in a Tiffin police garage to which it was taken while officers organized the intensive manhunt that resulted in the capture of West and Daniels. Bottom left, Cpl. M. G. Basilius checks the rear-view mirror of the car for fingerprints. Bottom right, Sgt. F. S. Van Allan of Findlay prepares the steering wheel of the Pontiac for the taking of additional fingerprints.—(N-J photos by William Graham)

JOHN C. WEST . . . died in a Van Wert hospital after being shot between the eyes while resisting arrest.

ROBERT M. DANIELS . . . surrendered at a roadblock begging officers: "Don't kill me!" He is being held at Van Wert.

Former OSR Inmate Confesses 7 Murders, Three In Mansfield

The kill-crazy murderers of the three members of the John Elmer Niebel family will kill no more.

His murderous partner in crime, Robert Murl Daniels, 22, captured unharmed, confessed seven killings within the last two weeks, including the ruthless, sadistic, cornfield killing of Mr. Niebel, 50; his wife, Nolana, 51, and their pretty 20-year-old daughter, Phyllis.

The two parolees from Ohio State Reformatory were captured when they attempted to shoot it out with police and sheriff's deputies at a road blockade north of Van Wert. The blockade was set up as a part of the greatest manhunt in the state's history, a hunt for two killers that brought into active service half the personnel of the State Highway Patrol and a majority of sheriffs of the state.

Before the manhunt ended, West and Daniels almost added an eighth victim. A Van Wert policeman, Leonard Conn, was wounded seriously in the gun duel. Frank Fremont, a conservation division employe, also was wounded, but not seriously.

West was removed to a hospital in Van Wert, where he died at 11:18 a. m. of a bullet wound between the eyes.

Daniels was not injured in the battle and was lodged promptly in the Van Wert county jail under heavy guard.

Highway patrolmen said the two were driving a transport truck used to haul new automobiles, when they were intercepted. They had stolen the truck bearing four new automobiles, after abandoning the light grey car they used in the blood-lust Niebel killings. In the abandoned car, police found evidence positively linking them to the Mansfield murders.

Only a few hours before their capture, West and Daniels had killed their last two victims.

James J. Smith, 25, a farmer of near Tiffin, was shot through the head when he refused to turn his driver's license over to the two blood-thirsty men. Less than an hour later, the body of another man, Orville Taylor, truck driver of Niles, Mich., was found in a roadside park near Tiffin.

Taylor was believed to have been the driver of the automobile drive-away truck West and Daniels were using when they were stopped, West fatally shot and Daniels captured.

In addition to the three Niebel murders, West and Daniels were also wanted for the slayings of Earl C. Ambrose, Columbus tavern operator, shot and killed during an $800 holdup July 10; of Frank M. Frech, 52, of Flat Rock, Mich., an elderly tourist camp operator who was murdered July 11, and of Smith and Taylor, driver of the auto transport truck.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and Prosecutor Theodore Lutz learned of the captures while they were in Tiffin lending their aid to the intensive manhunt that was organized there after the double killings last night and this morning.

Robinson and Lutz sped immediately to Van Wert, where they hoped to obtain first-hand details of West's confession and to confer with authorities of other counties where murder charges are pending against the pair. It was not learned immediately which of three Ohio counties would be asked to try Daniels.

2-Day Reign Of Terror At an End

Fearful Residents Unlock Doors Again

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Prayers of relief today echoed the end of the greatest reign of terror ever felt in the Mansfield area and all north central Ohio.

Robert Murl Daniels was captured; John Coulter West is dead.

The pair, who started the most vicious killing spree ever known, took seven known lives of innocent people in a 13-day murderous sweep across two states.

Before the ruthless and brutal killers of the John Niebel family had been tracked down, housewives had herded their youngsters within bounds of the family yard in trembling fear of the murderous pair.

Many had not slept the past two nights within a 100-mile area as the killers cut a swath of murder from Mansfield to Tiffin.

Mansfielders, who never locked their doors before, bolted every opening to their homes and kept porch lights on throughout the dark hours.

CREEPING TERROR

The creeping terror spread to surrounding towns. Children in Shelby were kept off the streets after dark. Adults gave up evening rides and amusements for fear the killers would back-track into the area, seeking more of their blood-thirsty thrills.

More than one person exclaimed that all "vacation plans are off until they catch those killers."

The family of Lowell Snyder, who reported the first clue to the Niebel murders, can come home now.

Reformatory guards stationed at the Niebel home since the Wednesday kidnaping - murdering of the Niebel family reported that Lowell Snyder, who had seen the mysterious car at the Niebel home from his house across the street had refused to stay at home until the killers were apprehended.

Snyder took his wife and two young children to an unknown

Sales Tax Slashed; Pensions Increased

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's lawmakers slept off their fastest special session in many a year today after ten hours in which they approved Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's three-point program.

The lawmakers:

1. Trimmed $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year off the customer's sales tax bill by exempting all retail purchases under 41 cents, starting Aug. 1.

2. Raised the ceiling on payments to the state's needy blind and old age pensioners from $50 to $55 a month, with the federal government providing all the extra money, starting Oct. 1.

3. Appropriated $3,000,000 to the state welfare department for poor relief and $1,500,000 more for food and fuel for the biennium ending Dec. 31, 1948. Including the $1,850,000 federal contribution to old age pensions, the total appropriation to the welfare department was $6,350,000.

All this was just what Gov. Thomas J. Herbert asked for in his call for the special session—no more and no less. It becomes law as soon as the officers of the general assembly sign the bills in today's skeleton session and as soon as Governor Herbert himself signs them.

Few changes—and those only in wording and not in substance—were made in any of the five administration bills. The business of lawmaking started yesterday afternoon and at 11:30 last night the Senate turned out the lights with the new laws on their way to the printers.

Old-time observers of the legislature could not recall a special session in which so much legislating was done in so little time.

The most persistent efforts to amend the governor's bills came from big city senators, who tried to get more money for local governments into consideration. The governor had refused to include any measure for this in his call.

State welfare department officials said almost all the state's 125,000 old age pensioners would be given the full $5 increase in their monthly payments. They now receive an average of $41.79 a month.

Guards Halt Looting In Lancaster Flood Area

LANCASTER — (AP) — National Guard members patrolled flooded sections of Lancaster today after Gov. Thomas J. Herbert received an appeal for protection against looters.

Brig. General Kenneth Cooper, assistant state adjutant general, released members of Lancaster's 88-man National Guard company for duty. Cooper said 35 to 40 men and two to three officers were ordered to the scene.

Earlier, Mayor Fred von Stein proclaimed a city-wide emergency. He asked the people of Lancaster to co-operate with the Red Cross and other relief agencies working with city officials.

Lancaster was struck early yesterday by a flash flood that followed heavy rains. Residents described it as the city's worst flood since 1913.

The waters broke over the banks of the Hocking river, flooding the west side of Lancaster and centering in the Rosebank and Reese sections.

Damage also was reported outside the city in Fairfield county and further south in the neighborhood of Rocky Bridge in Hocking county.

rounding areas was set at more than $1,000,000 by R. Kenneth Kerr, Red Cross disaster chairman and publisher of the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette.

Damage in Lancaster and sur-

D. L. Grove, city service-safety director, told persons in the flooded areas to boil all city water. He said a six inch main had broken during the storm and was being repaired by city workmen.

Some sections of railroad track in the Lancaster area were washed out, but train service was resumed in mid-afternoon.

Highway Direstor Earl J. Reeb said reports of highway closing, Wash-outs and bridge damages had been received from Fairfield, Washington, Noble, Hocking and Pickaway counties.

New Party On Ballot

Wallace Wins Ohio Court Test

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohioans can accept or reject Henry A. Wallace's bid for the presidency in the November election, but not in his own name.

The state supreme court ruled yesterday that Wallace's new party candidates for presidental electors could have a place on the state's ballot if their nominating petitions had enough signatures. The electors are the persons who, if elected, traditionally vote for the candidates themselves in the electoral college. Ohio has 25.

The petition qualification was regarded as a technicality. Wallace supporters have filed petitions containing twice the number of signatures needed.

However, neither the name of Wallace nor that of Glen L. Taylor, his vice presidential candidate, may appear on the ballot under the court decision. Nor will there be anything to show that the electors represent him. They are to appear simply as independent candidates.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, who had refused to grant the Wallace forces a place on the ballot, made no comment on the decision. It came on their demand for a mandamus order to force Hummel to place them on the ballot.

Eisenhower, Dewey Meet

PAWLING, N. Y. —(AP)— Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower discussed "the critical" European situation at a surprise conference here today.

Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, came to Pawling at Dewey's request. They discussed "European affairs and our military establishment," an aide of Governor Dewey said.

The visit of the World War Two allied supreme commander in Europe preceded by one day the scheduled conference here by Gov. Dewey with Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles to discuss the foreign situation in general and the Berlin crisis in detail.

Dewey had made no prior announcement of the Eisenhower conference.

Niebel Slayer Tells Of Massacre Plans

By PAUL KELLAM, News-Journal Staff Reporter

VAN WERT—A story of a plan for wholesale massacre of officials of Ohio State Reformatory was told here this afternoon by Robert Murl Daniels, confessed participant in seven murders, including those of three members of the John Elmer Niebel family of Mansfield.

"We planned the Niebel business three or four months ago," Daniels told Sheriff F. Roy Shaffer.

"We planned to beat the hell out of him. If they'd given us just a little longer we'd have wiped all of them out—all those s.o.b.'s at the reformatory."

Daniels said he and West went to the reformatory with the primary intention of killing "Red" Harris, a guard. Harris was the guard who visited the Niebel home Wednesday morning and first discovered the Niebel family missing.

"But we didn't find Harris," Daniels continued. Then, in reply to a question, he added: "I've killed my share."

Daniels said they killed the Niebels about 1:30 a. m. He said they went to the house and knocked on the door because their car had broken down and they wanted to use the telephone.

Niebel himself let them in, but, Daniels said, they did not recognize him at first. As he walked toward the telephone, Daniels said, he pulled out his gun and said: "This is a stickup."

DANIELS GOES UPSTAIRS

While West kept Niebel covered, Daniels said he went upstairs and forced Mrs. Niebel and her daughter, Phyllis, to come downstairs.

He asserted the Niebel family was fully clothed when they left the house.

From the residence, Daniels said, he and West drove the Niebels through Mansfield, around Central park.

It was not until they reached the cornfield on Flemings Falls road that they killed them, Daniels said. He denied that Phyllis was molested, denied also that any of the Niebels were struck over the head, but insisted that they ordered the family to offer no resistance.

"I felt safe all of the time," Daniels said. "West killed the truck driver in Tiffin but give me credit for all of the Niebels."

He said he killed them with an old Mauser automatic, thus supporting the belief of officers who had identified the fatal bullets as from such a weapon.

A grudge held since he was an inmate at OSR was the reason for the killings, Daniels said.

"While I was in OSR, Niebel treated me like a rat," he asserted. "At one time, Niebel slugged me."

"I lined them up in the cornfield. I shot Niebel first, then Ishot the girl, then I shot Mrs. Niebel."

Asked if he shot the three Niebels as they walked in front of him into the field, Daniels boastfully answered:

"I never shoot people in the back—it's against my principles."

He related that the three Niebels were forced to disrobe in the car and their clothes were thrown out of th window.

When Daniels was brought out to the jail steps to pose for news photographers several hours after his capture, an angry mob gathered around and shouted:

"Kill him! Lynch him!"

However, officials got him safely indoors — but not before he had cursed them, the photographers, and the crowd.

Prosecutor Lutz said it had not been established where Daniels would stand trial. "We are all fighting for him," Lutz said, referring to officials from other areas where murders have been committed.

Daniels, always calm and arrogant under the questioning of Sheriff Shaffer and Richland county prosecutor Theodore Lutz, attempted at times to joke with Lutz.

At times, he turned to Lutz, and said: "I guess you're trying to find that out, too." Lutz remained silent.

President Gives Post to Porter

WASHINGTON — (UP) — President Truman today brought Paul A. Porter, former price administrator, back into the administration to prepare an explanation of the anti-inflation program to present to congressional committees of the special session.

1,500 Pay Last Respects To Slain Niebel Family

At least 1,500 relatives, friends, church, lodge and business associates filed through the Jones Memorial last evening to view the bodies of John Elmer Niebel, 50; his wife, Nolana Parrish Niebel, 51, and their daughter, Phyllis, 20, found murdered Wednesday afternoon.

As final arrangements went forward for the funeral service at 3 p. m. today hundreds of others visited the undertaking home to pay their respects.

Dozens of floral tributes from associates at the Ohio State Reformatory, where Mr. Niebel was superintendent of the 1600 acre farm, from Venus lodge and Eastern Star lodges, the First Christian Church, relatives and friends, filled the rooms at the funeral home and more were coming in.

Paulbearers selected for this afternoon's services included for Mr. Niebel six of his OSR associates — A. J. Garver, J. C. Miller, R. C. Ohl, Robert Marshall, Harry Johnson and Willis Harris.

Pallbearers for Mrs. Niebel were selected from among members of the First Christian church and included: John Selby, Charles Beer, C. C. Simmons, L. K. Banks, Martin Bemiller and Eugene Calver.

Members both of Venus Lodge and the OES were asked to serve as pallbearers for the daughter. They included: Albert L. Hachten, worshipful master, Venus lodge; Walter Burrier, past commander of Knights Templar; O. F. Garver, W. B. Keefe, Paul Hoffman, and Ralph Schaus.

Burrier will read a poem during the service and a member of the Eastern Star will also participate.

Services will be in charge of Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, with burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

Newsprint Cost Goes Up Again

Announcement of another increase in the cost of newspaper publishing was received by The Mansfield News-Journal today, when Great Northern Paper Co., supplier of newsprint here, announced the second increase in this year in the price of paper.

Newsprint is the white paper upon which newspapers are printed. The latest price increase, $3 per ton, is effective Aug. 1. On Feb. 1, the company raised the price of paper by $5.50 a ton. Newsprint still is being sold to newspapers on a quota basis, with amounts limited by prior consumption.

DICK M'MULLEN, the former Senior high and Ashland college football star, began drills today in Sun Valley, Idaho, with the Baltimore Colts of the All-America conference. . . . The 225-pound Mansfielder is trying for a guard position. . . . The Bowling Green university basketball team will play only 26 games next year. . . . That's a far cry from the 33 to 36 usually played by the Falcons. . . . Les Myers, former Mansfield all-Ohio cager, should be a member of the BeeGee varsity next winter. . . . Joe Louis apparently has spiked the rumors that he will return to the fistic wars against Gus Lesnevich. . . . Says Joe, "This is final. Regardless of what anybody says or writes, I'll not fight Lesnevich in September and I won't fight anybody else at anytime. I've hung up my gloves." . . . Louis's resignation as heavyweight champion isn't official as he hasn't sent a letter to the boxing commission verifying the fact. . . . But again we can listen to Joe, "I've got six months to send that letter. What's the rush?"

PAT SEEREY'S feat of four homers in a game was witnessed by George Earnshaw, the former A's pitcher, who was on the mound when Lou Gehrig got off on his four-homer burst July 3, 1932. . . . Yankee Lou clouted three homers in three successive trips off Big George. . . . Connie Mack jerked Earnshaw but wouldn't let him go to the showers. . . . Mack told him to sit on the bench and watch Reliefer Roy Mahaffey handle the New York first sacker. . . . Gehrig promptly belted homer No. 4. . . . "Is that what you mean Mr. Mack?" Earnshaw commented and walked slowly toward the clubhouse.

MARSHALL GOLDBERG has played his last game of football for the Chicago Cardinals. . . . The 30-year-old former Pittsburgh backfield great says the press of private business is too great for him to go back into football training. . . . However, he will remain with the Cardinals as the head of the new scouting and talent division. . . . The Cards still hope to have Mad Marshall close his career against the college all-stars Aug. 20 in Chicago. . . . Bob Feller is mighty unhappy about the razzing he has been getting lately. . . . He commented in New York a couple of days ago, "It seems as though I can't get the right pitches across the plate—or with the customers."

DiMaggio Clouts One With 3 On

NEW YORK—(INS)—Lou Boudreau had better put on his water wings if he still intends to "sink or swim with Feller."

The ex-fireballer, upon whom the Cleveland manager has based his pennant hopes, failed again last night in New York as the Yanks defeated the Indians, 6-5, before 68,258 fans.

Home runs and control—or lack of it—again were the big factors in his 12th loss of the season. Except for two pitches—one to Joe DiMaggio and the other to Tommy Henrich—the Tribe might have won the game.

However, not-so-rapid Robert served a "fat" one to Henrich in the third inning with George Stirnweiss on base and the Yankee right fielder promptly parked it into the right field stands, tying the score at two all.

THREE-RUN LEAD

Then again in the fifth Feller threw another home run pitch—this time with the bases loaded—and DiMaggio hit it deep into the lower left field stands to put the Yankees ahead, 6-3.

The defeat shaved the Indians' league-leading margin to a half game over the Philadelphia Athletics and threw the junior loop race into a four-way scramble. Two games behind are the Boston Red Sox, who took a doubleheader yesterday and the Yanks are a half game behind the Sox.

Cleveland took the lead in the second inning of last night's contest when Boudreau reached first base on an error and came home on singles by Ken Keltner and Eddie Robinson. They added one more in the next frame on a walk to Larry Doby and a double by Boudreau.

Henrich tied the count in the Yanks' half of the fourth, but Mitchell put the Tribe ahead once more in the fifth with a home run into the right field bleachers. That hit, along with a single in the first inning, ran his consecutive hitting streak to 20 games.

In the bottom half of the fifth, Stirnweiss opened with a single. Feller then couldn't find the plate and walked Henrich and Charley Keller, setting the stage for the Yankee Clipper's dramatic grand slam.

TRIES TO TIE

Cleveland made a desperate attempt to tie up the game in the sixth. Boudreau opened with a single, his third hit of the game, and was advanced to second when Joe Gordon reached first on a wide throw to the bag.

Keltner then produced his second single, scoring Boudreau and sending Gordon to second. Gordon went to third on a passed ball.

Robinson made the first out by popping to Third Baseman Bill Johnson. Jim Hegan batted in the second run with a single to left, scoring Gordon. Tom Byrne replaced Vic Raschi, the starter, for New York and made easy outs of Johnny Berardino and Mitchell.

Bob Lemon was to go to the mound today in an effort to salvage the final game with the New Yorkers and give the Indians a split in the series. Lemon, who hasn't finished his last two games, was seeking his 14th win. His likely opponent was Frank Shea.

Ross Frisbee turned in a neat three-hit pitching job for Zitzer's yesterday to defeat K of C, 16-7, in a Hot Stove Major league game at Liberty park.

Sons of Herman, only undefeated team in the loop, will attempt to keep their undefeated record today when they go against Yuncker's at Liberty park.

The Exchange club will meet the Galion All-Stars this afternoon. Exchange was substituted for Police Recreation.

Only one game was played in each of the other divisions, the others being halted by wet grounds.

Exchange club walloped Carpenter Busses, 12-5, in the Junior league while Prospect trounced St. Peter's, 14-8. Prospect Pitcher Larry Zartman was batted from the mound by a six-run first inning but came back as a relief pitcher in the third and went on to win. Bushnell forfeited to Carpenter while Bowman was leading Woodland, 10-5, when the game was stopped at the end of the third inning.

Buffalo Bills Add Guard and Tackle

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(UP)— The Buffalo Bills of the all-America football conference today added a guard and a tackle to the list of candidates scheduled to report for training next week at nearby East Aurora.

Signing of guard Eddie King of Boston college and Frank Pizza, a 268-pound ex-Toledo university tackle, was announced by head coach Lowell (Red) Dawson.

British Champion Goes Into Final Training Stage

BOXHILL, Eng.—(UP)—Freddie Mills, British light heavyweight champion, went through his final stages of training today and eyed the ambition of a lifetime—"to beat Gus Lesnevich for the world title on Monday."

Mills, soundly defeated by Lesnevich two years ago, revealed that he felt "one hundred per cent better than the last time I met Gus."

Before an enthusiastic crowd of about 300, including a busload of school children and fight fans who had used precious gasoline rations to travel from the surrounding suburbs, the curley-haired Mills boxed five rounds yesterday with four sparring partners, the majority of whom were heavier than he.

Mills, who has caused much discussion by his revelation that he will use "a secret punch" against the world title-holder from Cliffside, N. J., did not demonstrate the punch during his workout.

Keller In, Berra Out

NEW YORK — (INS) — Charley Keller, injured outfielder, was back in the lineup of the New York Yankees today but the team was without the services of Yogi Berra, its regular catcher. Berra split the middle finger of his right hand in last night's game with Cleveland.

LaRue Names All-Star Club

Manager Fred LaRue today announced the makeup of the Park league (14-year-old and under) all-star team which will meet the Sandusky Cameo club at North Lake park Sunday at 1:30 p. m.

The Mansfield team follows: Gene Warner, pitcher; Fred Brickley, catcher; Bill Reale, first; Jim Gibson, second; Frank Chillimi, third; Freddie Zahn, short; Jack Howell, John Swayer, Frank Longsdorf, Junior Longsdorf, outfielders and Fritz Herring and Jock Kuhn, utility.

Johns park will meet the Cameo all-stars in the second game of the twin-bill.

Cromwell Predicts Four Wins

LONDON — (UP) — Dean Cromwell, coach of the U. S. Olympic track and field team, today predicted victory for his team in at least four events but refused to do any crystal gazing on the others.

Cromwell, the Southern California mentor, told a group of reporters, including representatives of the British press, that he "didn't know of anybody who could beat the American pole vaulters, high jumpers, broad jumpers, or shot putters."

While declaring that he "preferred to wait until the events at Wembley stadium next week" before predicting the finish of other events, Cromwell was inclined to be skeptical about reports of brilliant "unknowns" from other countries.

DOESN'T KNOW

One reporter asked him what he thought of the Balkan sprinter Molna who is supposed to have run near world's record time.

"I will have to see that myself," said the Dean.

Olympic circles were buzzing today with the "mystery of the missing food."

The questions all the athletes were asking was, "Where is all that food from the United States and other countries that was supposed to have been provided as a special diet for the competitors? We haven't seen it yet."

The Americans were particularly dissatisfied with the meals they have been served since they arrived at their training camps.

"We are trying to improve the food situation," said Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, vice-president of the U. S. Olympic committee. "The complaints concern taste rather than quality."

Charles Mill Lake Has Best Fishing

By JAMES DAILEY

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Charles Mill reservoir, which often in the past has run to coarse, rough species of fish, today promised the finest fishing in Ohio for the coming week end.

Charles Mill, about half-way between Mansfield and Ashland, showed up on the conservation division fishing report as being the top spot in the state with an average catch per fisherman of three fish per hour.

And to show that the lake is getting better for game fishermen, the coarser species like carp and suckers were in the minority.

About 50 percent of the haul from Charles Mill was in bluegills, with five per cent bass, 10 per cent crappies and 10 per cent channel cats making up more of the catch. The final 25 per cent was in the carp and bullheads.

The anglers who were met on the dock by the division's creel census taker said most fish were caught in the central and southern parts of the lake at five to ten feet of water with live bait.

BLUEGILL DOMINATES

In other lakes surveyed the stubby bluegill dominated the picture as usual in Ohio this time of year.

At Leesville the bluegill comprised 95 per cent of the catch, at Seneca 86 per cent, at Alma 91 per cent, at Jackson 85 per cent and at North reservoir 81 per cent.

At Leesville, near Carrollton, fishermen were averaging a little over a fish per hour, with most of them being caught in the north and south forks of the lake on both live and artificial bait. They were caught anywhere from the surface to 16 feet.

The division's creel census taker there said that some bluegills were caught by fly fishermen on the surface in the early mornings and in the evening. Most of the bluegills, however, he emphasized, were caught in deep water on live bait.

Fishing was rated good at Seneca lake by the division on the basis of its almost one-and-a-half fish per hour per angler. Buckeye and North reservoir also received that rating on averages of one fish per hour.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Belted grand slam homer to spark Yanks to a 6-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

PITCHING—Denny Galehouse, Red Sox—Pitched Red Sox to a 3-0 five hit triumph over Chicago in first half of doubleheader. Red Sox also won second game, 5-3.

Indians Make Big Money In Yank Series

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Four clubs are battling for the American league pennant but two teams—Cleveland and New York—are making all the money.

The Indians and Yankees are headed for a new all-time attendance mark of 850,000 and over $1,000,000 for their 22-game intercity series. Baseball never has seen anything like it because it never had two parks like the Yankee stadium and Cleveland's Municipal stadium involved in a season-long flag battle.

Last night's turnout of 68,258 New Yorkers who watched Joe DiMaggio's grand slam homer give the Yanks a 6-5 edge over the Indians, was the third largest to watch the teams struggle. It was DiMag's 21st homer.

The teams play each other eight more games and conservative estimates are that they will draw 275,000 in there for an over-all total of over 850,000.

Four Pros Tied In Golf Tourney

READING, Pa.—(AP)—The four record equaling professional golfers tied for the lead in the $15,000 Reading golf tournament are agreed that the winner will be the man with the post potent driver.

The unanimous opinion of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Rod Munday, Fred Haas jr., and Johnny Palmer—all tied with 65's after the first 18 holes—was that the rolling, well trapped 6,438 yard Berkshire course was a "driver's paradise."

Bill Veeck, Players To Appear Here

Announcement was made today by the Optimist club that Bill Veeck and several members of the Cleveland Indians will be present for the Optimist-sponsored baseball banquet at Richland Recreation Center Aug. 4.

The Indians, although in the midst of a home stand, are not scheduled that day, and Veeck told the local club that several of the regulars would accompany him here.

ON SALE TODAY

Tickets for the banquet which will go for $3 each went on sale today at several downtown business places. The entire profits of the banquet will be turned over to the Optimist club's boys' work fund.

Optimist President Brice McMahon, who is in charge of the banquet, listed the places where tickets go on sale as: Met's Auto Supply, McMahon Supply, Richland Recreation, Mayer Drug store, and Doc Hamman's of Mansfield, and Stahl Hardware of Ashland.

Red Sox Do Okay With Ted Out

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—Nobody has seen Ted Williams reading the help wanted ads so it is safe to assume that the slender slugger can have his job back if he wants it, but the Red Sox were doing mighty nicely without him today.

In fact they were enjoying their longest winning streak of the season, eight straight games, and had at last moved past the Yankees and into third place in the tightening American league pennant race. And all without Williams.

STEPHENS LEADS

When Thumpin' Theodore went out of the lineup on July 10 with a pulled side muscle it looked like a body blow to the Red Sox pennant chances. So what happened? Led by their junior slugger, Vern (Jr.) Stephens, the Red Sox have won 13 out of 15 games without Williams and that's about like trying to run a railroad without a locomotive.

Yesterday, Stephens hit two run homers in each game of a double header as the Red Sox topped the White Sox, 3 to 0 and 5 to 3.

The Junior Jolter drove in five runs for the day to take the major league lead in runs batted in with 83. He gave Uncle Denny Galehouse a two-run lead with his homer in the first inning of the opener and the veteran right hander went on to pitch a five-hitter. In the night-cap as Ellis Kinder went all the way for his fifth victory, Stephens drove in three runs with a single.

Joe DiMaggio's grand slam homer sent once-mighty Bobby Feller down to his 12th defeat as the Yankees topped the Indians, 6 to 5, at New York.

REGISTER WINS

The Senators lambasted the Tigers, 9 to 8, in 12 innings, relief Pitcher Forrest Thompson driving in his own winning run with a single. Hal Newhouser was batted out early, trying for his sixth straight win.

Hank Majeski's single with the bases loaded and two out in the last half of the 12th inning gave the Philadelphia A's an 8 to 7 victory over St. Louis in an elongated night game. Louis Brissie pitched 5 2-3 innings of hitless ball to win in relief as the A's climbed to within a half-game of the league-leading Indians.

For the fourth straight time, Lefty Johnny Schmitz of the Cubs subdued the Dodgers, 6 to 3, at Chicago. Bill Nicholson hit a homer and Eddie Waitkus got two singles and a double in the 11-hit Chicago attack on four pitchers.

Young Eddie Bockman picked a propitious time for his first major league homer, smashing it with a man aboard to give the Pirates a 5 to 3 victory over the Phils as Rip Sewell pitched a six-hitter for his sixth victory, going the route for the first time since opening day. The second game was rained out after five innings with the teams tied at one-all.

The New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals split a doubleheader, the Giants winning the first game, 6 to 3, as Sheldon Jones forsook relief pitching to hurl a seven-hitter in a starting role. The Cards took the second, 7 to 6, in 11 innings with Ted Wilks the winner. Johnny Mize of the Giants cracked a homer in each game.

Kid Galivan Gets Match With Livo

NEW YORK—(UP)—Sol Strauss planned today to match Kid Gavlin, Cuban welterweight contender, with Livo Minelli, champion of Italy, for Madison Square Garden on Sept. 2 as a reward for Gavilan's lop-sided victory over Roman Alvarez, rugged Brooklyn veteran.

Young Gavilan won the unanimous 10-round decision over Alvarez before 5,921 at the Garden last night. It was one of the smallest crowds since Mike Jacobs began promoting at the Garden 11 years ago. The gross gate was only $11,429.

Increase Capacity

KENT —(AP)— Kent State university will increase its stadium seating capacity for football to 16,000 seats this fall, Faculty Manager Ray Moran announced today. The Golden Flashes open against Wooster Oct. 3.

Cards Sign Up Ex-Pitt Star

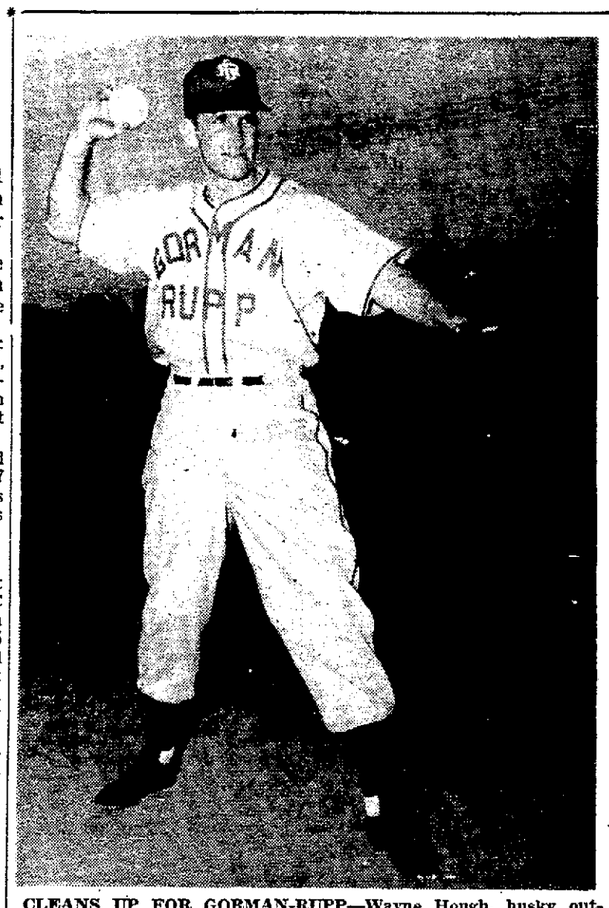
CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Cardinals announced today the signing of back John Chickerneo, 30, of Gary, Ind., a former member of the University of Pittsburgh's "dream" backfield of 1938.

Chickerneo will report to the Cardinals' training camp at Carroll college in Waukesha, Wis., a week from today. He weighs 205 pounds and is six feet tall.

Chickerneo was drafted by the Giants after playing for Pittsburgh and saw action for one season before entering the Army Air Corps.



CLEANS UP FOR GORMAN-RUPP—Wayne Hough, husky outfielder, has taken over permanent possession of the clean-up spot in the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp batting order. Hough cavorts most of time in center-field because of his speed and good throwing arm.

Gorman-Rupp Softballers Play Mt. Vernon Tonight

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp will attempt to grab a new hold on its fast-slipping league lead tonight by invading Mt. Vernon for a game with fifth place Stone's grill.

The Mansfielders, who had hoped to have the North-Central Ohio league pennant cinched by this time now have only a small lead over the fast-moving Smitty's Grill team of Marion. The slip started when Gorman-Rupp fell before Willard last week and then dropped a decision to Smitty's here Monday night.

Actually the lead is 2½ games, but Smitty's is only two games back in the important loss column. Gorman-Rupp must play Marion once more, Ashland twice and Willard twice.

Gorman-Rupp Manager Nick Weber will send his mound mainstay, Bob Regula, to the mound in an effort to get his team its twelfth victory. The team has dropped two games.

Gorman-Rupp has won all three of its previous league games with Mt. Vernon.

Westbrook Golf Slate Announced

Schedule of matches in the Westbrook Country club Friday evening golf league was announced today.

The schedule follows: Winged Foot vs Tam O'Shanter, Inverness vs. Fresh Meadows, Oakmont vs. Interlachen, Cherry Hills vs. Canterbury, Pebble Beach vs. Olympia Fields and Plum Hollow vs. Pine Valley.

VFW Battles Amvet 9 In Loop Game

Veterans of Foreign Wars will have an opportunity to increase its first place lead in the Class A Club league tonight against the Amvets at Liberty park.

VFW leads the circuit with seven wins in eight games while Moose lodge is a half-game behind. Moose does not play tonight.

In the other Club league encounter, Sons of Herman meets American Veterans Committee at Johns park. AVC is third in the circuit with five wins and three losses.

Only one contest was played in the Church league last night and it ended in a 6-to-6 deadlock between Four Square Gospel and United Brethren. The First Congregational-B'nai B'rith contest was rained out while all other games were postponed because of vacations.

Ohio Federal Taxes Above 2 Billions

Cost Runs $380 Per Capita

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Ohio kicked in a whopping $2,663,377,091 to the federal government in the fiscal year ended June 30.

This is a billion dollars more than the total federal outlay three decades ago.

In Ohio, based on 1940 census figures, it means a per capita payment of about $380.

The total represents individual income taxes amounting to $1,238,706,579, corporation taxes of $734,382,788 and excess profits taxes of $33,101,370.

The remainder covers employment taxes and other federal excises collected by the internal revenue bureau.

The treasury department, which made the figures public, said they are not entirely indicative of the federal tax burden of Ohio or any other individual state, since the taxes may eventually be borne by persons in other states.

Total internal revenue collections throughout the country amounted to $41,851,092,457 against $39,108,385,741 last year.

Ohio collections the previous year were $2,443,637,089.

Corporation taxes paid in Ohio were 57 per cent higher than the $465,368,406 paid the previous year. Individual income tax payments were up 13 per cent over the 1947 fiscal years.

Excess profits tax declined from $262,953,461 in the 1947 fiscal year to the $33,101,370 paid in the year ending June 30.

Total individual income tax payments throughout the country totaled $20,904,196,708 against $19,343,297,275 the year before.

Corporation taxes nationally were $9,956,375,164, against $6,055,095,928 the year previous.

The receipts were broken down by internal revenue districts and showed the following from Ohio:

First district, $688,383,729; 10th district, $329,596,395; 11th district, $229,234,962; 18th district, $1,416,162,003.

EGGS AND POULTRY

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Consumer grades: AA large white, 66c, brown 63c; A large white, 61-65c, brown, 60-62c; A medium white, 57-59c, brown, 56-57c; B large white, 54-56c, brown, 53-57c.

Wholesale grades: (Extras) large white, AA-55c, brown, 51½-53c; (extras) medium white 47-49½c, browns, 45-47½c.

Market firm to very firm on U. S. consumer grades. Where quality a factor price or color of no concern. Demand from eastern markets very firm and considerable volume of firm supply, both fresh (and short held) moving to those markets in some cases at better figures than can be realized locally. Competition at shipping point very firm on consumer grades and wholesale grades. While (extras) large white and brown unchanged, the undertone was firm to very firm and some dealers report shippers diverting to other markets. Some dealers considering using storage as the source of supply and feel they can realize better quality.

Live poultry: Fowl, colored and heavy type, 35-37c; fowl, Leghorn and light type, 26-30c; fryers and broilers, 43-45c; old roosters, 19-21c; young ducks, heavyweight, 35c.

Market generally dull and draggy. While trading was comparatively light there was enough interest to clear fryers and broilers. Heavy fowl in plentiful supply for limited demand. Quality was depressing factor also. Leghorn and light type fowl in better supply and cleared fairly well. A few Leghorn and light type fryers and broilers at 38-40c with lower prices in commercial broiler producing areas. Some quarters felt it would stimulate movement as some indication of price resistance evident in the trading for the past few weeks.

Events Preceding Murders Reconstructed In Theory

By DWYER CLAY

A theoretical reconstruction of the kidnap-murder of the Niebel family points to at least two men, and possibly three, as the slayers.

Since Niebel was a big man, standing about six feet tall and weighing well over 200 pounds, the killers would have had to guard members of the family at all times to prevent Niebel from putting up a vigorous struggle.

The father, John Elmer Niebel, 50; mother, Nolana, 51, and daughter, Phyllis, 20, must have been led into the cornfield at gunpoint. Possibly the girl was held by one of the mad killers while her parents were ordered to lie on the ground.

One killer might then have walked behind the two and shot the father in the top of the head. Mrs. Niebel may have attempted to rise and been shot in the abdomen. Writhing in pain, she may then have been shot in the top of the head.

SOUGHT TO CRY OUT

The daughter, Phyllis, forced to witness the horrible death of her mother and father while still being held by one of the killers, might then have been shot in the back of the head to quiet her cries for help.

At the Niebel home during the early hours Tuesday, the maniac killers probably caught the Niebel's off guard or asleep in their beds.

The abrasions on the head of the mother and father tended to support the belief that they were knocked unconscious either at the home or during the six-mile death ride.

When the parents regained consciousness, the killers might have led the trio to the waiting car with the intention of killing them where the report of discharge of a revolver could not be heard by neighboring residents. The death scene, in a field of high corn, provided an ideal such spot. High corn would muffle the sound of a gun.

Arriving at the cornfield on Fleming Falls road, the Niebel family, unclothed except for the untied shoes worn by the mother, probably was ordered from the car and marched into the field.

Because of the lack of evidence of a struggle there, it is possible they were told they would not be harmed if they did not resist.

SHOT RUTHLESSLY

Then the inhuman killers carried out their premeditated crime —shooting the family ruthlessly in cold blood.

As in the case of all killers, the Niebel slayers left unintentional clues. The cigarets that were found ground into the carpets on the first and second floor yet may yield fingerprints of the killers.

Prints also may be found on the drawers that had been opened in the kitchen, dining room and daughter's bedroom. They may also be found on the hall door which was pulled back to get the shotgun that had been placed behind it. And they definitely were found on Niebel's car in the double garage.

The cigarets that were found in a house where no member of the family smoked were identified by brand. They and other items, including the wallet, purses, glasses and items in the opened drawers, may yield some hints not readily identifiable on first examination but usuable as evidence when given a thorough laboratory analysis.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Steel Wages, Prices Move Up Together

Major Firms Fall In Line

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—Steel mill wages and steel prices are rising all along the line today.

Basic steel producers are getting into line behind the U. S. Steel corporation's higher wage and price pattern.

Already, announced price increases will raise the nation's steel bill $350,000,000 annually.

Some of the country's biggest producers hiked their prices after U. S. Steel coupled its nine per cent wage increase with an 11.4 per cent price boost.

Bethlehem Steel corporation, the second largest producer; Republic Steel corporation, the third; Armco Steel corporation, the fifth, and Great Lakes Steel company, joined the "big steel" price increase movement.

Steel wages have been boosted more than $93,000,000 for some 350,000 workers since last Friday when U. S. Steel dropped its anti-inflation, pay-freezing plan and granted a 13-cent hourly average increase to its 170,000 workers.

Inland Steel company of Chicago announced wage increases averaging approximately 13 cents an hour. A new contract granted raises ranging from 9½ cents an hour to 25½ cents for 13,800 employes in Indiana Harbor and Chicago Heights plants.

J. & L., Pittsburgh Steel and Sharon Steel signed wage agreements with the CIO United Steelworkers Wednesday They provided the same increases granted by U. S. Steel. Armco granted 4,000 employes of its Butler, Pa., plant a 10 per cent, or 13-4-cents an hour, increase.

Previously, Bethlehem, Republic and National Steel company signed similar wage agreements, although National granted one cent more than the "big steel" pattern wage. Edgewater Steel company, Oakmont, Pa., also reached an agreement with the union on the pattern wage.

The price increase action began immediately after U. S. Steel effected its new prices averaging $9.34 a ton.

Mexico Lowers Value of Peso

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— Mexico has decided to cheapen the pso. She has lost a long fight to keep it at 4.85 to the U. S. dollar where it has been pegged since 1940.

The new exchange rate will be set after consultation with the international monetary fund. The Bank of Mexico, effective this morning, stopped all buying and selling of foreign currencies until the new rate is set.

SMOKER STARTS FIRE

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Elevator service in the Netherland Plaza hotel in the heart of downtown Cincinnati was disrupted for 30 minutes last night when a careless smoker set fire to a mattress on the 27th floor.

LOTS OF TWINS

PITTSFIELD, Mass — (UP) — This city is experiencing an epidemic of twins. Within a week, four sets of twins were born at St. Luke's hospital and two sets arrived at House of Mercy hospital.

Police Chief At Plymouth Told to Quit

'Neglect' Charged; 'Feud,' Says Officer

PLYMOUTH—Mayor Carroll Robinson today prepared to ask for the resignation of Plymouth's Police Chief Clay Hulbert, a move sanctioned by city council at the mayor's request because of what the mayor charged was the chief's "insubordination and failure to carry out orders."

Meanwhile, Chief Hulbert flatly stated: "The mayor and I aren't getting along very well. I don't care. I don't want the job any more. I can't work for him—it's just fighting all the time."

Chief Hulbert said the "trouble is just a personal feud between the mayor and me." The mayor already has told Chief Hulbert he will have to quit.

Elaborating on his charge, the mayor said that the chief acted contrary to his orders for the arrest of "some roughnecks who drove around the square in the early morning hours, blowing their horns and waking the villagers." Mayor Robinson said the chief "exposed himself" instead of lying in wait for the noise makers.

'NOT PHYSICALLY ABLE'

Although the mayor said it was the "first time" Hulbert disobeyed orders, he said the chief was "not physically able to do the work."

"He's awful slow and can't go up steps very well," the mayor said. "He doesn't check the poolroom on the second floor over the First National bank."

Asked what might be going on at the poolroom, the mayor replied:

"Could be gambling; could be minors."

The police chief's reply to the accusation was that he had taken one of the "roughnecks" to the mayor for careless and reckless driving and that the mayor fined the accused $1.

Asked if there were punchboards in the poolroom, Chief Hulbert said:

PUNCHBOARDS UPSTAIRS

"Yes, there're punchboards here—in the second-floor pool room, but the mayor never gave me any orders to take them out.

"The mayor appointed a councilman's brother as deputy for Wednesday and Saturday nights. That's Harley Burgett. I was on the council nine years when I got this job, four and half years ago," the chief continued. "They threw it on me. No one else wanted it.

"I hadn't had a bit of trouble until this mayor came in office last January. I just can't work for him. He can have the job."

Plymouth city council also granted a request that the American Legion post and the Jaycees be given permission to hold a street fair, scheduled for the latter part of August. Proceeds from the fair will be given to the Plymouth Athletic association.

BOY SCRAMBLES HISTORY

BOSTON—(UP)—Three gravestones in Copp's Hill burying ground bear the death date 1625—five years before Boston was settled. The reason is that a lad named George Darracott in early days thought it fun to change dates in the sandstone markers with his jack-knife.

End of Tax on Food And Clothing Asked

TIRO—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert was asked to have the Ohio legislature do away with all sales taxes on food and on clothing today by Carl Baker, Tiro and Galion newspaper man. Baker is the Democratic candidate for state representative from Crawford county.

In a letter to the governor, Baker suggested that the state tax on food sales in restaurants be done away with and that all sales tax on women's, men's, boys' and girls' clothing be abolished.

"As a citizen, I am convinced that the government, both state and national, should do everything it can do to combat the ever rising cost of living," Baker wrote the governor.

"The sales tax on food and clothing adds to the living cost of all people. Inasmuch as the condition of state finances will permit the removal of part of the state sales tax at this time it is fair and proper that the tax be removed from all food and clothing sales. These two lines represent the primary needs of all people and the removal of the sales tax on food and clothing would constitute a cut in living costs to all Ohio citizens."

Vote Clerks' Pay Raised

Thomas R. Zeigler, Richland county board of elections clerk, said today that precinct workers will be paid $12 for their work on election days.

Many Aliens Enter U. S.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A state department official declared Thursday that many of the 365,000 aliens granted temporary visas to visit the United States during the past year are remaining here, and in many instances cannot be deported.

Robert C. Alexander of the state department's visa section said he "wouldn't be surprised" if the 365,000 figure cited by Senate immigration subcommittee Staff Director Richard Airen was "about right."

Alexander said that other countries "usually refuse to take back" persons who remain in the United States illegally.

The estimated 365,000 includes students, foreign officials, businessmen and persons supposedly traveling through the United States to get to another country.

$3,200 Added To Home Fund

County commissioners have granted a supplemental appropriation of $3,200 to the new equipment fund of the Children's home, which was used for the purchase of laundry equipment.

They authorized transfer of $1,521 from the contingencies fund to the fund for the county share of the public employes retirement fund. The payments are sent in semi-annually to Columbus. Both county employes and the county contribute five per cent to the retirement fund.

Commissioners also approved transfer of $50 from the stationery and supplies fund of the county commissioners' office to the legal advertising fund.

2-Day Reign Of Terror At an End

Fearful Residents Unlock Doors Again

friend's house waiting until he would be sure there would be no danger for his family.

Just before a road block near Van Wert spelled an end to the savage spree, a quiet terror hung over a 30-mile area surrounding Tiffin as police stalked the killers.

Officers were everywhere — in the shadows of roadside trees, in doorways and in cars — seeking the two men wanted for cutting down seven innocent victims.

All of the victims on the West and Daniels "murder list" were shot in cold blood.

Until Wednesday morning, little anxiety had been felt in the Mansfield area for the Mansfield reformatory parolees who were sought for the robbery slaying of Earl C. Ambrose, Columbus tavern owner and Frank Krech, Flat Rock, Mich., trailer camp operator. The murders occurred on July 10 and 11.

Then fear struck here.

Mansfielders, shocked and sickened by the most horrible tragedy ever to hit the city, hung on each description of the "mad-dog" slaying of John Elmer Niebel, 50-year-old reformatory farm superintendent, his wife, Nolana, and his pretty, 22-year-old daughter, Phyllis.

Their nude, bullet-riddled bodies were found lying between the corn rows in a farm field, six miles northeast of the city.

Rumors flew. Was it the "Ambrose killers?" Mansfielders waited breathlessly.

Yesterday, the tension grew when a dishwasher in Lisbon told authorities he had been beaten by two men who attacked him as he was walking home from the restaurant where he was employed.

The "light colored" car seen by Snyder at the Niebel home checked with the "light car" described as driven by the dishwashers' assailants. Dried blood stains were later found on an abandoned "light" car near Lisbon. But the lead proved false. The car was later reported stolen in Pennsylvania.

Shortly before 11 p. m. last night the trail of blood reappeared near Tiffin when a hysterical young wife told of seeing her husband shot through the temple and then fleeing the two men who attempted to hold her captive.

Shortly after 11 p. m. a fair-haired youth was found brutally

Posse Kills 1 Slayer; Captures Companion

The highway patrol, local police, FBI and other officials had set up road blocks all over the northern half of Ohio soon after the Tiffin slayings were reported. Until then, Richland county officials had been in charge of the hunt but every clue—and there were many in the 36 hours after the bodies of the three Niebels were found in a cornfield off Flemings Falls road—had seemed to simmer and die.

An abandoned, blood-stained automobile found at Lisbon yesterday morning following a restaurant dishwasher's encounter with two men, was discovered to have been stolen the night before in Rochester, Pa., 50 miles east of Lisbon.

While they awaited help of State highway patrolmen and peace officials of other counties, Van Wert county and city police officials were stationed at a road block six miles northeast of Van Wert, where routes 224 and 627 meet.

A driveaway truck, with four automobiles aboard, approached. The officers stopped it for a routine check.

The driver of the truck came out of the cab, an army rifle blazing. Sgt. L. D. Conn, 42, Van Wert policeman, went down with a bullet in his chest. Frank A. Friemoth, 55, county game protector, also fell with a bullet in his breast, the slug lodging in his arm.

Both officers, with Sheriff Roy Shaffer, blazed away with their guns despite the wounds, and Sergeant Conn finally hit West between the eyes with a machine gun bullet.

As the firing ceased, a man crawled from one of the four cars on the driveaway, his hands in the air. He said he was Daniels, and the highway patrol said he admitted he and West had committed the seven killings for which they had been sought over 20 states the last two weeks.

SHERIFF IN CHARGE

Roy Shaffer, Van Wert county sheriff, was in charge of the roadblock northeast of here when the automobile transport truck the two were known to have stolen thundered up to the blockade and stopped.

Sheriff Shaffer, armed with a machine gun, climbed up on the top deck of the big truck, carrying four new automobiles, to investigate.

West, who was in the driver's seat, leaped from the cab of the truck and opened fire, Shaffer said. Conn, who was covering Shaffer, fired back.

During the exchange of gunfire, Fremont walked into the line of fire and was struck in the arm, the sheriff said.

FIRES THOUGH SHOT

Conn, although seriously wounded by West's fire, shot the killer down with machine gun bullets.

Daniels, who was hiding on the top deck of the transport truck, then surrendered, Shaffer said.

The sheriff then radioed for help, bringing several squads of highway patrolmen and police to his aid.

Taylor, driver for the Bolin Trucking company, of Cleveland, was en route to Welch, W. Va., from South Bend, Ind., with a load of Studebaker cars. The truck in which the two gunmen were trapped was a Bolin truck.

Sergeant Conn's condition was reported as critical at Van Wert hospital, and attaches there said West "could not possibly live."

No trace of the regular driver of the driveaway truck had been found, opening the possibility that he, too, may have been a victim of the killers in their search for transportation with which to evade capture in the ever-closing net which authorities had thrown around the up-state sector.

LINKS POSITIVE

Before leaving Tiffin for Van Wert, Lutz and Robinson had viewed a multitude of evidence positively linking West and Daniels to the Niebel killings.

Niebel's driver's license was found in a key pouch. The abandoned car also yielded high powered (.380 caliber and .45 caliber) shells, one .22 caliber cartridge, and one .25 automatic Mauser pistol. A .380 shell is used for a Colt automatic pocket pistol and some foreign-make guns.

Authorities have established that the Niebels were killed with .25 caliber bullets.

Also in the car, police found a traffic ticket issued by police at Flora, Ill., July 17, 1948, to the owner of the abandoned car.

They also found one red slipper for an elderly woman and one pair of new green slippers of a stylish type, one Ohio license plate L-4190, under the rear seat, and another Ohio plate D-4351 on the car, a 1947 Pontiac answering the description of the one a neighbor of the Niebels, Lowell Snyder, saw enter the Niebel driveway about 2 a. m. Wednesday.

SHOES CHECKED

Mrs. J. O. Holmes, Five Points-east road, said Phyllis Niebel had a pair of red shoes last summer but she did not know whether Mrs. Niebel or Phyllis had any green shoes.

In an effort to identify the shoes and other articles in the abandoned car, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Niebel, son and daughter-in-law of the slain couple, and another son, Russel, 22 of Chicago, accompanied Sheriff Robinson to Tiffin.

The license L-4190 was the one seen on the car used by the two ex-convicts, John Culver West, 23, and Robert Murl Daniels, 24, when they ruthlessly killed Ambrose in Columbus.

The license D-4351 was used by the car that figured in the killing of Frech at Flat Rock, Mich.

Hardly had the echo of the pistol shot in Tiffin died away before authorities throughout Ohio linked the killing there with the blood-lust slayers of the Niebels.

More than half of the entire personnel of the state highway patrol force was assigned to the Tiffin hunt. Col. George Mingle, patrol superintendent, said a three-tier blockade was thrown about the scene of the killings, north of Tiffin.

The armed force of killer-hunters included all of Tiffin's city police, a majority of the state's county sheriffs, members of the FBI, game wardens, railroad police and even highway workers.

"We got to get them this time," grim-faced police officials declared. "We've just got to get them before any more people are killed."

WORSE THAN DILLINGER

Veteran police officials branded the trail of killings as the greatest in their memory—in Ohio or elsewhere. Even John Dillinger's gang, at the height of its crime-studded career throughout the middlewest, did not leave such a trail of blood. Its most sensational crime was the ruthless killing of the sheriff at Lima, O., to effect the release of members of the gang.

Sgt. H. W. Sowers, a veteran Ohio State patrolman, called the hunt for West and Daniels "a much more dangerous undertaking than tracking Dillinger and his mobsters. The Dillingers weren't trigger happy; they fired only when cornered. These guys seem to be killing for thrills. Either that or they're all hopped up on dope."

West, while an inmate in the Reformatory, was assigned for a time to the farm detail over which Niebel was superintendent, OSR officials said. Daniels was believed to have done some work on the 1,600-acre farm also.

The fact that one and probably both worked on the farm tended to support Sheriff Robinson's statement: "Someone must have hated that man awfully much."

Ex-Army Flier Bombs U. N.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—An ex-army flier, worried about a new war, was sought today as the pilot who dived at United Nations headquarters and dropped a missile which exploded harmlessly nearby.

The U. N. trusteeship council was in session when the missile believed by police to be a homemade bomb, went off yesterday near the ground about 400 feet from the entrance of the central U. N. building.

A plane answering the description of the one from which the missile was dropped landed a short time later at LaGuardia field. Its pilot, who identified himself as Stephen J. Supina, 36, a former B-17 turret gunner of Willington, Conn., left the field, and is being sought by police.

2 Children Save Selves In Flood

EAST LIVERPOOL — (AP) — Grasping a tree after being swept 150 feet through a 30-inch surface sewer, two children yesterday saved themselves from drowning in the storm-swollen Ohio river.

The children Joann Snyder, 4, and her brother, Benjamin, 11, were trapped by onrushing water while playing in the street.

Russians Release Two Americans

BERLIN —(INS)— Russian occupation authorities released two United States military policemen in Berlin today after holding them for 15 hours.

The American provost marshal said that the men, Pvt. George G. Hunt, of Camp, Pike county, Ohio, and Pfc. Elwood Dwinnel, of Mobton, Wash., were arrested by 12 armed Russian soldiers.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Germans Say 'No' to Split

An event of great importance to the conflict over Berlin occurred on Monday of this week when the 11 German minister-presidents of the western zones made their formal reply to the western powers.

In moderate language, but quite firmly, the Germans rejected our basic proposal: they refused to establish a western German state; they refused to convene a constitutional assembly to prepare a German constitution "until a solution for all of Germany is possible and until German sovereignty has been sufficiently restored."

They declined the proposal for a popular referendum which "would give to the basic law for the administration of the western zones the kind of weight which should be reserved to a final constitution."

This German reply, which was published on July 19, needs to be read in conjunction with the Russian note replying to the Allied protests, which was broadcast from Moscow on July 14.

The Russian note said that "when the United States, Great Britain and France, by their separate actions in the western zones of Germany, destroyed the system of quadripartite administration of Germany and began to create in Frankfurt-on-Main a capitol for a government of western Germany, they thereby undermined also their right to participate in the administration of Berlin."

Now that the Germans have refused to do the very thing to which the Russians object, the struggle over Berlin is being waged over an issue which has been radically modified, if it has not been totally dissolved, for the Germans have walked out on us. We are left with a bitter and dangerous struggle in which the main bone of contention—a western German state—has been removed.

The narrower issue of the Berlin blockade has also been substantially modified this week by the Russian offer to supply under certain conditions the whole of Berlin. The original Allied notes pointed out that the responsibility "for the physical well-being of Berlin" was "initially undertaken at Soviet request on July 7, 1945" and that this responsibility is "outstandingly humanitarian in character."

WANT CONTROL OF CITY

If the Russians now wish to assume the responsibility, it is, of course, because this would make them the masters of the economic life of the whole of Berlin.

But it may be that there are compensating advantages. Relieved of the responsibility for the economic support of the Berlin civilians, we could then strengthen our military position in Berlin. There would be no question of our ability to supply our troops or to reinforce them, if necessary by the air lift, even in winter.

As long as the troops remain, we shall not have surrendered Berlin, or any of our legal rights in Berlin, or our moral obligation to protect those Germans who would suffer if we left Berlin. For while we fought for the right to occupy Berlin, we did not fight for the right to feed it.

In any event, the Russian offer is worth exploring as an expedient which might permit a broader attempt to solve the greater problem of Germany without the pressure exerted by the blockade, the strain of the air lift and the risks of an irreparable incident.

But all of this, all effort to reduce the struggle in Berlin, depends in the last analysis on a judgment as to whether the resumption of negotiations for a German settlement is practicable and is advisable. My own view is that neither our moral commitments nor our interests permit us to refuse negotiations, but that they cannot be begun until there has been careful preparation, until many preliminary measures have been taken, and until there has been much clarification of our own ideas about the principles of a settlement and the means of enforcing it.

FORMAL TALKS NECESSARY

This would mean in fact, I think, that formal negotiation, as distinguished from conversations through diplomatic channels, could not begin before the new administration is in office. Our main objective until then would be to relax the tension of the conflict, avoiding irrevocable decisions and averting, as best we can, irreparable incidents.

The essence of a settlement of a great conflict is not that the antagonists have decided they think alike and can trust each other, but that they have accepted conditions which make it too dangerous and too unprofitable for either to take the risk of upsetting the settlement.

That is why I continue to harp, no doubt with tiresome repetition, upon the decisive importance of a military withdrawal by the Red army.

A European settlement of the German question is, I believe, inconceivable as long as the opposing armies confront each other in the center of Europe. The Russians dominate the part of Europe which their armies dominate. The less of Europe they occupy, the less they will be able to dominate.

Mansfield's Two Conflicting Forces

MANSFIELD, which has so frequently gained national attention in a favorable way, because of commendable accomplishments—once as the city chosen for a national Child Health Demonstration; not long ago as the city having the largest Chamber of Commerce membership in its population bracket, and often as an ideal example of proper balance between industrial and agricultural development—has more recently been projected into the national limelight in ways that are distressing rather than gratifying.

This week the name, "Mansfield," is appearing in newspaper datelines all over the country in association with articles telling of the frightful tragedy in which three persons were kidnaped from their home on the Ohio State Reformatory farm and brutally slain.

Early this month Mansfield attracted nation-wide attention by the still unsolved mystery of a bomb explosion in the business area in which two police officers and two city firemen were injured.

Somewhat earlier in the year Mansfield's Police Chief Jesse Schwab gained favorable mention by announcement of a "permanent" ban on commercialized gambling—and the fact that this ban extended through only two months, after which the customary forms of illegal gambling re-appeared, did not escape notice.

Considering these happenings as entirely disassociated, the thought can scarcely be escaped that Mansfield has been permitted to move toward a condition which does not fairly reflect the preference of a large percentage of the people of this community, as expressed in the one-time slogan, "Mansfield is a good city in which to own a home, earn a living and rear a family."

Mansfield is also sometimes referred to as "a city of churches"; its people show willingness to give financial support to public schools; parks and playgrounds are provided to meet recreation and relaxation needs; Friendly House is moving toward expansion of facilities, and there is much talk about combatting the causes of what is called "juvenile delinquency."

But, on the other hand—and the dual personality of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde comes to mind—the very elements which contribute to adult and juvenile disrespect for ALL LAWS are permitted to flourish without appearance of official interference—IN FACT WITH INDICATION OF ADMINISTRATION SANCTION—as witness the recent procedure of raiding two inconspicuous gambling places in "the flats" and permitting an illegal horse race bookie joint to operate in an uptown location, to the enrichment of its proprietor, without police hindrance!

A serious question is posed for the people of Mansfield—is this city to be restored to its previous high standing as an above-average law abiding community, or is it to hereafter gain notoriety as "a wide open city" in which it is a recognized administration policy that "anything goes," and in which lives and property are endangered by resultant influx of hoodlums, racketeers and underworld characters which infest communities that present no barriers to their illegal methods of gaining a livelihood?

'Comic' Books That Suggest Crime

ASSOCIATION of so-called "comic" books with acts of cruelty by children is touched upon in a thought-provoking way by Fredrik Wertham, M. D., in an article in a recent issue of the Saturday Review of Literature.

It appears that Dr. Wertham and associates have conducted the Lafargue Clinic, as the first study of this subject carried out independently of the comic-book industry, and the article presents some startling cases in which the "comic" book influence has been reflected in vicious practices of young children.

Imitation of characters found in such books, with robbery, brutality, murder and various other forms of violence as favorite themes, appeared frequently as explanation of gang treatment of other children, with one instance of a four-year-old girl being tied with a rope, beaten with guns, hit with whips, and locked in handcuffs secured with coupons from a comic book.

Investigation discloses, according to Dr. Wertham, that: "The worst sector of comic books is increasing, and the best, if there is a best, is getting smaller. Their mass production is a serious danger to the production of good inexpensive children's books."

This subject is of local interest in circles giving attention to problems of juvenile delinquency, because of the large volume of such lurid literature that is bought by Mansfield children or parents who either don't know or don't care.

ECA To Stimulate European Trade

THERE is still some uncertainty as to allocations of aid under the ECA, and a number of unsolved problems about dollar purchases. But the general principle is that member governments should decide for themselves how they will manage the dollars and other currencies.

France, for instance, is to be authorized to buy from Belgium with dollars if it thinks best. Belgium could then use the dollars to buy in the Western Hemisphere. Or Belgium may make an outright grant to France from Belgian currency set aside in the counterpart fund under the United States accord.

In either case French purchasing power within Europe could be enlarged by dealing with neighbor nations. And so it is with the others.

The ECA has come to the conclusion, and made definite announcement of it, that countries receiving aid under the Marshall Plan are to spend some of their United States dollars for buying and selling within western Europe. This move is designed to stimulate European trade.

The idea of the Marshall Plan is to get the beneficiary European nations to get themselves going on their own.

"Man wants but little here below"—which is quite fortunate, at present prices.

Could Block Filibuster

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THERE is a way to get a civil rights program through the special session of Congress that begins next week if Republicans meant what they said in their 1944 and 1948 platforms and if Democrats outside the South follow the mandate written in their platform this year by delegates representing their states at the recent convention.

President Truman pointed the way in his acceptance address when he suggested cloture, which means the limiting of debate to break down the sure filibuster that southern members will resort to in the Senate, as they have before. There is machinery available in Senate rules and procedure.

The Senate is always the obstacle to civil rights legislation because of unlimited debate which lends itself to filibuster. Southerners have no such weapon in the House where civil rights bills, such as those to abolish the poll tax in election of federal officials and to make lynching a federal crime, have been passed repeatedly only to run up against a filibuster blockade by southerners in the Senate.

Before going into the cloture method, it can be said first that there never has been a better opportunity than now to enact a civil rights program because of circumstances.

The chief impediment, as always, is the temptation to play politics with the issue.

But there is less reason now than ever before to play politics with it. In fact, the issue has been lifted clearer of politics than at any time, what with the Democratic president, backed by his party's convention joining hands with the Republican party and its leadership.

* * *

It Could Be Done.

THE political maneuver being discussed among the Republicans is to push the civil rights issue to the fore at the outset of the special session to "embarrass" President Truman by revealing, when the southerners go on the warpath, how badly his party is split over the issue.

But everybody within reach of a newspaper or a radio knows already how badly split the party is. And, as for "embarrassing" the President, the time is long past for that. He already has burned his bridges to the South.

He owes the South nothing any more after its performance of recent weeks, and by "the South" in this instance is meant the southern leaders who tried to destroy him, not the southern people to whose best interests he still is keenly devoted.

Those leaders left him and in so doing left him free. And, after their rebellion in Philadelphia, he served notice upon them again in his acceptance speech, in their presence, that he is determined to go through with his civil rights program.

Rather than being "embarrassed," the President will welcome the initiative in Congress by Republicans on civil rights. Since that is established it is now up to Republicans, since they control Congress, to proceed earnestly and sincerely.

They have their clear platform mandates of 1944 and 1948. They, too, have burned their bridges to the South, not only by those platforms but also in the nomination of Governor Dewey of New York who put through in his state the most extreme of civil rights measures, a fair employment practices commission, or FEPC. Likewise, Governor Warren of California, his runningmate, is a forthright advocate of civil rights legislation.

All these circumstances make most propitious an effort to impose cloture, break a southern filibuster, and get action.

In the cloture procedure it is necessary first to get the signature of 16 senators to a petition. There is never any trouble about that. A two-thirds vote then is required to impose cloture. With everyone of the 96 senators present and voting, that would mean 64 votes.

There are 51 Republicans in the Senate, and 19 Democrats from outside the South. That would mean 70 votes, more than enough.

This is the time to strike. If Republicans and Democrats outside the South mean business they can get action now.

Inflation To Be Rebuked

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN HIS opening message to Congress President Truman intends to bear down with all possible force on the issue of high prices. How explosive the message will be can be judged from the efforts of the White House researchers who are now supplying raw material for the grand opener.

They have come up with those full-page newspaper advertisements published two years ago by the National Association of Manufacturers. The NAM was then leading the campaign to destroy price control.

Those remarkable ads blamed the postwar price rise on government regimentation. Take off the controls, they said, and prices will certainly go down. By killing OPA and removing controls, America's productive forces would be released, industry would turn out a flood of goods, and prices would come tumbling down.

So went the siren song. The ads were echoed almost word for word by Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, Republican leaders who led the attack in Congress that cut the heart out of OPA.

The housewife needs no statistical charts to tell her what has happened in the two years since the country was told that the death of OPA would mean lower prices.

Hamburger costs twice what it did in June of '46 and so do a great many other essential items in the budget of the average householder. But the figures are available, too, and the President will use them in his message to the returning Congress. The index of the price of food is at 211, about half a percentage point more than at the peak in January of this year. That is 44 points higher than in June two years ago.

The President does not intend, as of this writing, to ask for across-the-board price control. About a week after his message he will send a bill to Congress calling for allocation and rationing of commodities essential to the household budget.

What answer the Republicans will make has not yet been determined. They cannot simply ignore the case presented by the President. The inflationary spiral is too menacing for that, particularly now that a third round of wage increases makes another price boost certain.

* * *

Each To Accuse Other.

THE GOP could, of course, go back to one of President Truman's first acts to show that original sin in this matter of inflation can be assigned to the Democrat in the White House. The President urged Congress—it didn't take much urging — to repeal the wartime excess-profits tax, which kept down the soaring profits of large corporations.

Once that step was taken, a whole chain of consequences was bound to follow, including the demand for higher wages to match the higher profit ration.

The President went even further. He backed up higher wage demands on the theory that increases were necessary to compensate for the loss of overtime worked during the war.

Raises were essential, so the theory went, to sustain purchasing power and make it possible for the mass of Americans to buy the products of a greatly expanded industry.

The Republicans might cite original sin on the excess tax if their own tax record in Congress was not so bad. They cut the federal income tax by about five billion dollars at the session that ended a month ago. Nothing could have been more inflationary in its effect than that.

In the same revenue act they changed provisions of the inheritance tax in favor of the wealthy. Leaders, such as Chairman Harold Knutson of the House ways and means committee, wanted to pare it down even further.

In contrast, the President's tax record during the past two years has been good. He has fought hard to keep federal revenue at a level that would mean a surplus and reduction of the staggering federal debt.

Russia Reaches Acute Stage In Europe

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Most important factor influencing the dynamite-laden Berlin situation is that throughout most of Europe the Russians are losing out.

This is what makes Berlin even more dangerous—for the Russians cannot afford to backdown. To do so would be a mortal blow to their prestige in all of Europe. It would mean even more cracks in the Iron Curtain.

A nation that is winning can afford to be magnanimous, but a nation that is losing, can't. And government leaders who are desperate, are dangerous.

In addition to the Tito revolt, here are some of the signs indicating that the Soviet's alleged far-flung empire is beginning to crack up:

Bulgaria—Georgi Dimitrov, communist leader of Bulgaria, is so afraid the long arm of Moscow will reach him that he doesn't go outside his home without an armed guard.

Poland — Russian attempts to communize the farms are stirring up increasing opposition from Polish peasants.

Czechoslovakia— Klement Gottwald, the communist leader who deposed President Benes, has now been eased to the sidelines. Moscow has put Rudolf Slanski, secretary of the Communist party, in his place. Several top Czech leaders have deserted to United States protection, including Gen. Antonn B. Hasal, Czech deputy chief of staff.

Italy — Moscow wasn't pleased with communist leader Togliatti even before he was shot. Some Intelligence observers believe Togliatti was shot by a Moscow agent; first, to get rid of him, second, to arouse turmoil in Italy.

With these cracks beginning to appear in the Iron Curtain, Kremlin prestige in Berlin is vitally at stake. The 14 men who govern Russia need a psychological victory to keep their straying disciples in line. When a government's prestige is at stake anything can happen.

* * *

Why Eisenhower Withdrew.

A BATTLE-TOUGHENED soldier like General Eisenhower doesn't often cry. But when, in George Allen's presence, he wrote his historic statement finally taking himself out of the presidential race, real tears swelled in Eisenhower's eyes.

The complete story as to why Eisenhower signed that statement is not yet known. This writer has tried to find out, but is not yet satisfied with the answers.

The fact that some of the big political bosses, such as ex-Mayor Hague of Jersey City, hopped on the Eisenhower bandwagon unquestionably had its effect.

The General thought he was being used for political purposes. Also the fact that the Republicans nominated a good ticket was important.

Also it is a known fact that some of Ike's own best military friends pleaded with him not to get into politics. As one of his closest battle-comrades told Eisenhower: "Every time one of us goes up to Congress for an appropriation from now on, they'll be wondering whether the money they vote us will go to building up another candidate for President."

In addition, the White House inner circle hints that there was another personal factor, very close to General Eisenhower, which President Truman, cocksure and confident, seemed to know all about.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

FEW people know it, but President Truman tried to get Mrs. Roosevelt to telephone Supreme Court Justice Douglas to get him to run for vice-president. Mrs. Roosevelt would not telephone, but sent a long wire instead. Simultaneously Jimmy Roosevelt called Douglas urging him to run for the presidency against Truman. Pulled in so many different directions, no wonder Douglas declined. . . . A shake-up is due in the Democratic national committee. Truman will clean out all those who opposed his renomination. . . . President Truman was so irked at his bemedaled military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan, that he didn't want Vaughan to come to Philadelphia, finally let him make the trip providing he wore civilian clothes. . . . The three Truman advisers who urged his calling a special session of Congress were: Undersecretary of Interior Oscar Chapman, Judge Sam Rosenman and Clark Clifford. . . . Gen. Robert Eichelberger, MacArthur's deputy, will retire from the Army soon. He is not being groomed to succeed General Bradley as Chief of Staff.

Those Shifting Polls

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—Step right up, Ladeez an' Gennulmen! Step right up and witness two of the greatest attractions ever presented for the price of one!

On yo' right is the spectacle of a great political party trying, honestly attemptin' mind yo', to laugh another candidate to death—political death, that is! Ha, ha!

And on yo' left, in complete and ab-so-lute defiance of all scientific laws, is the spectacle of that self-same candidate who will prove again to you that he can carry more weight without the aid of his assistants than he can when they are helping him! Step right up.

Departing from the carnival mood for the moment, it quite probably does not come as a shock to know that the aforementioned candidate, in both cases, is none other than President Harry Truman.

Which brings us to a closer study of the two spectacles now being noted around the nation's capital.

As you may have noted by reading the various polls during regent days, the President has somehow — unaccountably, many say — gained a couple of points in nationwide popularity. No much, but still enough to make it worth while going around to ask the Republicans what they think about it.

It is disconcerting, to say the least, to be greeted something after this fashion:

"Truman? You don't mean—haw, haw, haw! he, he!—You don't mean Harry Truman? Haw, haw! Excuse me, but I just can't seem to control myself! You don't mean to ask us if we think there's any danger of him being re-elected! Not seriously! Harry Truman—Ho, ho, ho! There I go again! Boy, you are a card! Haw, haw, haw!"

And so it goes. Eventually, you can pin the boys down to practical facts and figures—and imposing ones they are—showing why they feel that Truman hasn't a chance. But not until they've gone to some considerable length to convince you that the very mention of Harry's name fills them with uncontrollable mirth.

* * *

Explanation Offered.

WHICH brings us to the second spectacle, the case of the candidate who seems to walk the farthest when walking alone, so to speak.

When queried about the President's slight popularity gain, a leading Democrat and a long-time supporter of Mr. Truman showed signs of sudden panic.

"Don't spread it around, will you?" he asked in mock dismay. "Some of his old pals and advisers already are showing up around the White House again, and if they hear this they'll all be back—and he won't have a chance! Give the guy a break."

According to his theory, the President's many ups and downs on the nation's popularity charts have come in reverse ratio and to the number of advisers he had around—and the amount of attention he paid them.

Up and down, up and down—that's how it's been the last two years, according to the Democrat. Recently, he said, when word spread around that Truman had about as much chance of being re-elected as a butterfly has of becoming a B-29, the boys began to desert him by the numbers.

"You know how it goes—a cabinet member quits to go home and run for senator. . . . An executive assistant suddenly takes a private job he's been offered. . . . And so on. Suddenly they just aren't around any more.

"So what happens? The President goes up to Philadelphia, makes a speech on his own, and gives the whole party a shot in the arm. Right when it was dying on its feet. Now the experts who were counting him out are giving him an outside chance.

"But if his advisers hear about it and come back to help him out—that's all, Brother, that's all!"

Dave Boone Says:

A MASSACHUSETTS farmer says he has developed a "master cell" which makes hens lay the year around, doubles crops, rejuvenates old stock and presumably produces a turkey that's all white meat. Scientists say he apparently has something.

* * *

It looks like a waffle or disc but is said to work wonders with foodstuffs, livestock and maybe human beings. This idea of producing more food faster is fine, but we will need a master cell to shrivel human greed and multiply our fair-play glands.

* * *

Take chickens. They are doing okay, but the economic system getting them from the hen to the omelette needs rejuvenating.

* * *

I can see Washington right now in conference on ways and means to see that this Massachusetts master cell doesn't in any way make it easier for a man to eat regularly at a low price.

Timely Editorial

Go Vegetaran Awhile.

The nation's high-paid publicists aren't beating the drums for "meatless days" and there's no law on the books that says a family can't have meat three tmes a day, but it's a wise housewife who calls her family to a strictly vegetarian meal.

Meat is expensive. The price of steak jolts the family budget harder than the cost of an entire Sunday dinner used to do. Even cheaper cuts are up in the high bracket, gold-plated class.

But there's an abundance of good, wholesome food available now, at lower prices, in vegetables from home gardens, and truck farms. Beans, beets, lettuce and all the rest of summer's rich yield are piling up in stores and markets.

Why not take advantage of nature's bounty and try a vegetarian diet for a while. The budget will be healthier, and the family may be, also.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Find Honey In the Rock

By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY OLDEST brother used to preach at the evening service of a little mountain church ten miles from home. The church stood in the woods at the top of a long incline of "breakered" road. "Breakered" roads were steep and not used for wagon traffic, but for horsemen and foot travelers. To keep them from becoming channels for run-off after every rain, they had raised places or "breakers" — minor terraces, really — which sluiced the water across the road into the dense undergrowth, or down over the sandstone cliffs.

Sometimes I walked with my brother on these Sunday afternoon excursions. He was absentminded. Bees and rattlesnakes bothered him . . . the woods was full of both. Besides, he had his sermon to think about.

One afternoon we came upon the builder of this church, sitting on a log beside the trail. He was a gizzled man of sixty or so, with a dark gray shirt shredded by thorns, and he used a belt of slippery elm bark to support his trousers. I saw all this while my brother and he shook hands—also a little brown box with a leathern strap for a handle, upon the log beside him. His eyes twinkled when a honeybee alighted upon it.

"I have a little syrup there, flavored with anise," he explained. "Bees'll do anything for anise. Now watch how I put a wee drop of the stuff on this bee's back between its wings." He did so. The bee took off again, and tipping back his gray head to watch it go straight up and disappear, he took from his pocket a heavy silver watch and carefully observed the time. Presently a bee again alighted upon his box. "That's the third," he said finally. "Come along with me — I'll show you something strange."

My brother trailed him closely, then I followed. We went 100 yards or so when a rattlesnake rattled sharply once. My brother shivered but did not flinch. Insects were shrill. We crossed a mountain stream. "Listen," said our guide.

It sounded like a hive of bees "lighting out to swarm." Then we saw thousands of bees going in and out of a hole in the rocks. The colony was gathering in for the night. The sun had already set. From a yellow pine log, the veteran bee man pulled out a knot and whittled it into slivers, set a match to it and had a smoking torch. He fastened the burning fagot to a long stick and very steadily inserted it into the round entrance to the bee cavern. We looked and saw within, hanging from a mantel rock, three parallel combs capped and filled with honey.

That night, in the meeting, my brother told the audience what we had seen. The people listened eagerly. Then he called for a bit of special music, and a deep-chested baritone singer came up front. I had never heard the piece before that day, but what he sang with deep feeling and with a great clasping gesture of his big hands, was, "There's Honey In the Rock for Me!"

It was, I guess, the most impressive church service I have ever attended.

New Sofa Bed Shows Style

By ELEANOR ROSS

Many new furniture lines are of more than passing interest, not only for design, but because they reflect various conditions.

There's the sofa bed, for example, that this season shows more style, more variation than ever before. This is due in part to the housing situation all over the country, which calls for doubling up and extra double-duty sleeping equipment. Then, too, in the majority of new houses, the good old guest room, so nice as an extra room, has been eliminated.

So bedding manufacturers have done themselves proud in giving homemakers new models which will furnish comfortable sleeping facilities and at the same time add decorative charm to the home.

We were interested in the improved mechanisms that make the process of converting from a sofa to a bed a jiffy job, quick and easy of operation.

The lines of both traditional and modern sofa style beds have been smoothed and streamlined to appeal to the most discerning eye. Cover fabrics are available in much wider array than ever before, with colors and designs that really have a new look, one that is worlds different from the drab upholstery of yesteryear.

We admired the new sofa beds arranged in all sorts of interesting and delightful settings, all geared to make the living room a nicer room just because it holds a piece of two of disguised sleeping equipment. A standard sized sofa bed flanked by chests or end tables, a pair of convertible love seats either side of a fireplace, a sleep chair in a corner grouping add graciousness to the living room and conveniently solve the overnight guest problem or any emergency that may arise.

A different way to serve beets is to slice them very thin and top them with a mixture of French dressing and mustard.

New Story About Migrating Americans Is Outstanding

THIS WEEK finds many new books added to the collection in the children's room at the library. One of the most outstanding of these is a story about migrating Americans, a story about their children who are so poor that they haven't enough money for a movie, children without shoes or proper clothing and food, and even without homes.

This well-written story about a emigrant family traveling in a shabby automobile is one of Lois Lenski's most outstanding works, JUDY'S JOURNEY. The reader follows the hopes and dreams of the child, meets her bitter disappointments, feels her sorrows as she realizes that most of her father's optimistic dreams about the "new well-paid job on the next crop" are really only dreams. Judy has one desire herself—to go to a regular school, but first, she learns a great deal by becoming used to strange faces, scenes, and happenings which help to widen her vision by making her a part of all she meets.

An adventure story that any boy will like is this Cheyenne Indian story, RIVER DRAGON, by Carl D. Lane. Two young Indians who are only nine help to save the camp from the great monster dragon and the warring Pawnees. The old medicine man relates a special message from the Great Spirit who told him that a great warrior would be made that very day, and there is great doubt as to which of the two boys will be chosen until the end of the story.

For the very young child there is another of Lois Lenski's books, THE LITTLE FARM.' This story relates the many tasks which make up the day in the life of Farmer Small. Feeding, harrowing, plowing, cutting hay, egg gathering, milking, and planting; all are delightfully illustrated to follow the story.

An easy-to-read biography is another of the new books. The story is of Alexander Hamilton from his boyhood on St. Croix island, a part of the West Indies, to his college days in America. Containing many of the experiences which make boyhood an exciting adventure, this book tells of Alec's parrot, his own horse, Christy; first experiences at school and at work, picnics at the beach and a raging hurricane. By Helen Boyd Higgins, the book is entitled ALEC HAMILTON, THE LITTLE LION.

A modern story about a new plane, designed by the men of the Starwing Aircraft company, is SKYBLAZER, by Howard M. Brier. The problem was to introduce this stratoliner to the public, but a crash during the first test flight pointed to failure. In order to sell the plane, the management planned a good-will tour to take the plane and its crew along the western coasts of Mexico, Central, and South America, displaying the plane to those who might use it. Throughout the story, Barry Martin, the pilot, receives mysterious messages from a Mr. Shadrock who tries to change his plans. The end proves to be doubly exciting and, incidentally, proves to the public that the Skyblazer is a great ship.

BEANY MALONE, by Lenora M. Weber. Here is a story about a house full of people; a house continually full of excitement, life, and peace for all who add to its "lived-in-look."

It centers about Beany, the youngest daughter, who constantly tries to keep the others in the Malone family happy and protected. This task was practically impossible, for they were a family who honestly faced every new situation and stood up to odds that would have discouraged most others. The story follows the events in the lives of an old man and his life story, two small English war refugees, an unhappy school chum whose mother is her only friend, days in a college sorority, a returning GI, a friend whose ulcle's careless response to his duties is the subject of many of Mr. Malone's editorials, a school teacher's home life, troubles in a chem lab, class plays . . . everything included to weave a fascinating story for teen-agers.

CLUB MEETING

The Blue Star meeting was held Tuesday night at the home of Fred Stull, West Fourth street road. The group inspected Paul Ludwig's rabbit project and Stull's garden project. Time was spent working on cooking books and health work. There will be a health demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Baumberger and Fred Hink at the next meeting, Aug. 3.

MEET THURSDAY.

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at the church.

Rae Avenue Residents Plan For Reunion of Former Neighbors

FIFTY neighbors in the Rae avenue district met at the J. M. Lehman home for their annual summer party July 21. A picnic supper was served at 6 o'clock after which the evening was spent socially. Plans were made to hold a picnic and reunion of former Rae avenue residents on Sept. 17 at 4 p. m. on Rae avenue.

The committee, named to arrange for the party, is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Pataky, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron.

A nominating committee was appointed and is composed of Bert Gettles, Mrs. Frank Daniels, Gus Meredith and Mrs. Wallace Firestone.

Poland-Davis Rite Held

In a closed ceremony in the parsonage of the Evangelical United Brethren church July 17 at 5:30 p. m., Miss Ruth Poland and Lynnarden Davis exchanged wedding vows. The Rev. V. C. Stamets officiated for the single ring service. Miss Poland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Poland, Mifflin, O., and Mr. Davis is the son of Mrs. Nancy Davis, 105 Franklin avenue.

The bride wore a dress of black and white print with white accessories. She had a corsage of white gardenias.

Miss Mary Luke, sister of the groom, was the only attendant. She wore a green print dress with white accessories and her corsage was also of gardenias.

Thomas R. Davis, brother of the groom, was the best man.

After a short wedding trip to Buffalo, N. Y., the bride and groom will reside on Ashland road.

Mrs. Davis attended Hayesville high school and the groom attended St. Peter's Catholic high school. He is employed at the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

New Officers Appointed

Mrs. Clyde Butler, Grace street, new chairman of the social service committee, Women of the Moose, entertained the group last evening at her home. Eight members were in attendance and planned to hold a covered dish dinner at the North Lake park Aug. 26 at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Michael Gaubatz was named the new secretary when Mrs. Butler presided for the business session. Mrs. Peter Herold will serve as treasurer and Mrs. Paul Ritchie as reporter.

During the social hour the club prize was presented to Mrs. Mary Walters. At a late hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

Cream cheese mixed with salad dressing, chopped green pepper, and prepared horseradish make a wonderful sandwich spread.

Recipe Named For Columnist

A man just doesn't have a chance against a woman, particularly when the woman is a fellow member of the newspaper fraternity and uses her column to emphasize his pet peeve.

Marian Tracey, New York World Telegram food consultant, recently read humorist Fred Othman's column in which he expressed a violent dislike for mayonnaise. The columnist good-humoredly devoted many words expressing that dislike. So, Miss Tracy decided the occasion merited a special dish named in his honor. Here is her recipe for Eggs Othman—containing plenty of mayonnaise.

EGGS OTHMAN

Proportions for one person, multiply by the number of people: 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Salt and pepper to taste.

Spread mayonnaise on bottom of individual baking dish. Break eggs onto it and salt and pepper them. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven about ten minutes or until whites are barely set. They will cook slightly more in the baking dish after being taken from the oven.

Miss Tracy promises "good and surprising results" with this egg dish, even for Mr. Othman and his biased palate.

Medical Test Proved This Great to Relieve MONTHLY FEMALE PAINS

Are you troubled by distress of female functional monthly disturbances? Does this make you suffer from pain, feel so nervous, weak, high-strung—at such times? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! In a recent medical test this proved remarkably helpful to women troubled this way. Any drugstore.

Birthday Party Given at Pavilion

Miss June Kithcart was hostess for a birthday party given for her sister, Miss Constance Kithcart, at Johns park pavilion recently. Fourteen office associates from the Farm Tools, Inc. were present.

A large white cake trimmed in blue and pink roses was the centerpiece with aqua and pink ribbon running from the cake to the two large pink candles at the ends of the table. A bowl of pink and white carnations was also on the table.

Games and dancing were the diversion of the evening.

Clothiers to Market 'Just What Mrs. U. S. A. Ordered'

By DOROTHY ROE, AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Mrs. U. S. A can look forward to a season of contented shopping next fall, as the new clothes now being previewed by the nation's fashion press are exactly what she ordered.

Proving that she has a mind of her own, the typical American woman frankly balked at last fall's freakish "New Look" put her foot down firmly and announced—"I'll have none of it" The only thing remaining of the ill-fated French inspired silhouette is the longer skirt length—about eleven inches from the floor is average daytime length—but the bulky skirts and padded hips and the pinched waists have gone the way of all unbecoming fashions

The new silhouette is slim, streamlined, ladylike, faintly victorian, and almost always flattering

Nettie Rosenstein, author of the "Little Black Dress", so dear to the heart of American women, shows a discreet and wearable collection of daytime clothes, with many of the simple and flattering afternoon dresses for which she is known, then turns frankly to 'hussy" styles for after-five wear Daringly low cut necklines and bustle backs are typical of the latter.

A highlight of the collection is a red wool greatcoat, loose and voluminous, with a capelet front. The cape collar is repeated frequently on coats in rough and colorful tweeds

Suits are likely to be trimmed in precious furs, fitted as to jacket slim as to skirt, accompanied by small barrel muffs

In her evening gowns, Mrs Rosenstein shoots the works, showing fabulous creations of opulent fabrics, strapless as to top, with crinolines and hoopskirts all over the place

Here theory, as evidenced by the current collection, is—"By daylight, be discreet, but after five, dress to the teeth"

If fresh asparagus is peeled before cooking, the peelings plus the ends of the asparagus that are cut off may be used to make a cream soup

Horoscope

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 24

The sidereal operations encourage a very direct and lively attack on ambitious projects and ambitions, especially where change, travel, entirely new contracts and agreements are more likely to bring desired results rather than forging along in outgrown grooves and static combinations Fresh fields, with bright ideas and bold plans, shrewdly worked out, with ingenuity, skill, perhaps wit and "smartness", may bring pleasant relations of a private nature, with public approval as well All things of interest to the young and adventurous should thrive

Those whose birthday it is are couraged to attack a wide range of operation for fresh pastures may prove most prolific and promote pleasant relations or shrewd adventures affecting the private as well as business, professional and public carerr It is a time to push toward new objectives, fresh places and faces, with lively experiments, bright ideas versatility, ingenuity. Along the way there should be much adventure of a romantic and thrilling aspect, amusements, sports and intellectual diversion.

A child born on this day should be blessed with much ingenuity versatility, liveliness in thought and action A vivid imagination and keen intuitions are also to be relied upon

Girl Marries By Telephone

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—Pretty Miss Nancy Carol Hinson finally was married by Transatlantic telephone Thursday after three months of trying.

The 19-year-old Landis, N. C., girl exchanged vows with Staff Sergeant Harlee Waylon Odum jr., 23, of Wilmington, N. C., in Munich, Germany.

Her wedding Wednesday was called off when an Army chaplain walked out on the ceremony in Munich.

A half-hour hitch delayed the wedding Thursday. County Judge Hiram Bryant said everything was all set up at this end. It was learned that an Army captain was officiating at the other end.

Judge Bryant asked for an Army chaplain. After the delay Chaplain Don Hudson of Sarasota, Fla., conducted the German end of the ceremony.

Miss Hinson, who is a telephone operator herself, came here in April to get married. Marriage papers were prepared, but Odum's were signed improperly. They had to be returned to Munich.

Then she was stricken with appendicitis and had to undergo an operation.

Judge Bryant said the bride was "considerably upset" over the halt Thursday heaped on top of the other delays.

The wedding was expensive, too. Telephone tolls amounted to $145.

Camp Evangelist To Speak

REV. I. D. SWINEHART

Rev. I. D. Swinehart, of Akron, evangelist of the Wesleyan Methodist church, Allegheny conference, is speaking twice daily at the Free Methodist camp meeting grounds on the Lucas road.

Rev. Swinehart talks to church members at 10:30 a. m. in a combined youth and adult meeting and again at 7:30 p. m. He began his talks Wednesday night and will continue through Aug. 1.

Personal and family security can be improved by investing in U. S.Savings Bonds.

Battleship Awaits Doom

PEARL HARBOR—(AP)—Burial on the high seas with 16-inch guns pounding out a death knell will climax next week the saga of the U. S. S. Nevada—a fighting battleship.

The dreadnaught that weathered two atomic bomb blasts at Bikini is cast again in a guinea pig role. Behind a security curtain, ordnance experts are scheduled to start testing, a new, non-atomic explosive on her tough hide tomorrow.

Next Thursday Navy planes will rip her with bat bombs—gliders packed with explosives and guided by radar. The battleship Iowa and the cruisers Astoria, Pasadena and Springfield will close in Friday to finish her off with heavy guns.

The 32-year-old veteran awaits her end in the garish shroud of orange paint that marked her as the bull's-eye ship at Bikini. She is deadly radioactive. Her stack is crushed, her radar gear and one yardarm are missing.

The worn-out ship, her stern already low in the water, may give up the ghost ahead of schedule like the battleship New York on July 7. But the Nevada already has proved she can take more than any one ship's share of punishment.

Citizen Who Defended Himself From Mob Indicted By Jury

NEW YORK—The grand jury in Waterloo, Ia., has indicted on a charge of manslaughter Fred Lee Roberts, a Negro citizen, who fired a shot when he was attacked by a mob of lynchers during a union riot at the plant of the Rath Packing company last June.

In Waterloo, as in several cities in Minnesota, the police flinched and the rioters took control. Only in Kansas City, Kan., in this particular chain of strikes, were the police competent and true to their vows. There the cops drove the goons back into their headquarters and waded in after them. The cops then beat up the goons and the riot stopped dead.

Fred Lee Roberts of Waterloo will be acquitted of manslaughter because that charge can be sustained only if he wantonly used more force than he need have to defend himself when the police abandoned him to the mob.

The jury will agree that a man attacked by a mob whose members begin by "rocking" his automobile cannot be expected to exercise calm, legal judgment.

The practice of "rocking" cars began at the big automobile plants in Michigan in riots directed by the United Auto Workers under the political patronage of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Thousands of feet of moving pictures show that this was done with the precision of a battle operation by a military combat team and that the goons wore uniform caps like those of Mussolini's Black Shirts.

And the appalling fact survives that Frank Murphy, then governor, now on the Supreme court, called out the National Guard to suppress law-abiding citizens who were trying to resist the rioters.

Any citizen attacked by a mob is, by the definition of all the New Deal "anti-lynching" bills, a victim of lynching. However, these bills all contain a uniform provision exempting lynching committed by union rioters.

Actually, even where legitimate "labor" questions do exist, the riot invariably is deliberately caused by the unions. And as all union bosses and New Dealers know, many riots have been caused by communists who first created the pretext of "labor" questions.

Under the Truman anti-lynching bills, a "labor" riot prompted by communist insurrectos might cost a thousand lives and lay waste a city and yet remain beneath the official interest of the department of justice.

On the other hand, a petty disturbance in a sleepy southern watermelon town in which some suspect was beaten up by three or more assailants while the constable snoozed in the barber's chair, would be "lynching" within the meaning of Truman's civil rights program.

Rioting is the gravest kind of breach of the peace short of treason known to British law. The Encyclopedia says it "consists in a tumultuous disturbance of the peace by an assemblage of three or more persons who execute that enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner to the terror of the people."

The degradation and corruption of government under Roosevelt and now under Truman are not understood by citizens who slowly came to think of riots as trivial disorders. Riot is a challenge to the authority, integrity and power of government by an internal enemy.

Farmer Slain as Wife Sits at Side In Auto

By DOROTHY MONROE AND ANNE SCHOENMAN

TIFFIN—The "Mad Dog Killers" and the two-tone gray Pontiac sedan driven by them during their series of brutal slayings parted company last night shortly after 11 o'clock at a roadside park a few miles from Tiffin.

Sheriff George R. Steinmetz of Seneca county theorized that the "hot" license plates, D-4351, led to the desperate attempt of Robert Murl Daniels, 24, and James C. West, 23, paroled Ohio State Reformatory inmates, to obtain a car of a different description—and the subsequent deaths of James Smith, 25, Tiffin.

In the first press interview given by Steinmetz at 1:30 a. m. today he told News-Journal reporters the following story of last night's crime.

At twenty minutes until 11, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were returning to their home near Tiffin after visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strausbaugh, Tiffin, where they had enjoyed dishes of ice cream and played a few hands of cards.

CROWDED INTO DITCH

Six miles north of the town on Highway 53, a 1947 two-door sedan coupe, a two-tone gray Pontiac, crowded the young couple's car off the road and into the ditch.

A man described by Mrs. Smith as tall, blond and neatly dressed slid out of the gray car and asked Smith, "Weren't you driving pretty fast?"

Next the man, who fit West's description, asked for Smith's driver's license. As Smith displayed the license, West snatched at it and Smith held onto it saying: "You can't have that."

One of the men, infuriated at the failure of their hoax as police officers, fired a shot into Smith's left temple, according to Steinmetz. The sheriff added, "It is believed that West must have done the shooting."

REPRIMANDED

The accomplice, who remained at the wheel of the gray car, reprimanded the killer with a sneering "That was a nasty, dirty thing!"

Mrs. Smith, who had been sitting by her husband's side through the tragic occurrence, first tried to assist him. Suddenly realizing her own predicament, she leaped from the car only to have West shout at her, "Get back in the car or we'll kill you too."

Then he forced her into the back seat of the Smith's car and climbed in behind her, holding her there while his accomplice wheeled the gray Pontiac back into the traffic lane. When the Pontiac was headed north both men stepped from the cars.

DASH FOR FREEDOM

Mrs. Smith, preceiving her split-second opportunity for escape, dashed from the car to the yard of the farm home of W. W. Martin.

Martin, who had not retired for the night, heard the young woman's screams for help and quickly admitted her to his home and safety while the ex-convicts sped away from the scene.

Sheriff Steinmetz was immediately notified by Martin of the tragedy and went to the home of Mrs. Smith's mother whom he took with him to the Martin farm. Deputy Sheriff Grover Leopold preceded them in another car.

As the grief-stricken widow was led from the farmhouse to the sheriff's car, Leopold asked Steinmetz for permission to "follow a hunch" and attempt to track down the killers' car.

"I think I can find it if I drive around the vicinity for awhile," Leopold said.

RELATES HER STORY

After Steinmetz had given Leopold his "o. k." he took Mrs. Smith and her mother to his office in the county jail where she related her story.

Smith was taken to Mercy hospital in Tiffin where he was pronounced dead and removed to the Hoffman Memorial funeral home.

In the meantime, Leopold continued north on Route 53 until he spied a light colored car parked just off the road. As he drove past the car he identified it as the hunted gray Pontiac—license number D-4351.

Foliage was dense in the park so Leopold proceeded to a telephone where he called for help. Within 15 minutes 50 men from the Tiffin and Fremont police and sheriffs' offices arrived on the scene, 10 miles north of Tiffin.

The officers approached and surrounded a darkened house about 75 feet away from the gray Pontiac. They aroused Mrs. T. W. Price and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Price, who told them that all three had heard two shots a few minutes after 11 o'clock and, seconds later, a vehicle driven out of the park. They opined it was a small truck or an old car because they could hear it for about a quarter of a mile.

SEARCH PARK

The posse then advanced to the park and searched through the foliage until an unidentified police officer announced, "Here's another body."

The man had been stripped of all identification. He was taken to the A. A. Turner funeral home in Tiffin where he was identified several hours later as Orville Taylor, of Niles, Mich., driver of an automobile drive-away truck.

Notable among the articles found in the killers' abandoned car was a Thursday edition of the Cleveland Plain Dealer revealing details of the slaying of John Elmer Niebel, OSR farm superintendent, and his wife and daughter in Mansfield early Wednesday morning.

Other items included a cigar box full of silver amounting to from $75 to $100 and a .25 caliber German Mauser pistol, both in the car's trunk. Some of the silver was wrapped in Columbus-Selina Coach company wrappers. Also in the car were packages of cigarets of the same brand left by the Neibel killers, cigars, a toothbrush, candy bars, a bottle of soda pop and two pairs of ladies' dress shoes, one brilliant red and the other dark green imitation alligator.

Also discovered in the trunk were the clothes used by the killers during the Earl C. Ambrose murder in Columbus.

Smith's driver's license failed to appear during a search of his body and of his 1946 model Buick four-door sedan. Neither was it found in the Pontiac abandoned by Daniels and West. Tiffin Police Chief Ralph Fraley said at 5:45 a. m. that the license might be discovered under the seats of the car after complete fingerprint records had been made.

Friends Say Niebels Kept Doors Locked

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Close friends of the murdered Niebel family continued today to seek to find some plausible explanation of how the bloodthirsty slayers obtained entrance to the Niebel residence early Wednesday morning.

They pointed out that the Niebels, by virtue of the father's position on the official staff of Ohio State Reformatory, always had been extremely cautious about admitting persons into the home.

"Mr. Niebel was very careful," a close friend of Miss Phyllis Niebel, 20, said. "The house was locked up tight early in the evening and when anyone came to the door the visitor always was asked to identify himself before the door was unlocked.

The girl said she had made frequent visits to the Niebel home, several times after 10:30 p. m. "I always had to give my name before I was admitted," she said.

This friend also agreed with other friends that she knew of no enemies of the family.

"Mr. Niebel may have been a strict disiplinarian, but I'm sure he never mistreated anyone," she said.

PHYLLIS JOLLY GIRL

She described Phyllis as a rather shy, but jolly girl who acted more like 16 than 20. "She was easily frightened and I can't help thinking about what she must have gone through," the girl said.

"Phyllis always carried a key to the house so that she could let herself in when she got home late after being out. Her mother left the front porch light, the side porch light, and the garage light on whenever Phyllis was out.

The boy she dated always went up to the door with her, and whenever I took her home I waited until I saw that she was safely inside," the friend continued.

MOTHER TIMID

She added that both Phyllis and her mother Nolane, 51, were timid and that she could not imagine them admitting a stranger to the house.

"Although Phyllis was shy, she could liven up any party. She had a great many friends and was always going out of her way to do something nice for someone. I can't understand why anyone would want to harm her," she said.

Mr. Niebel's brother, David, of Mansfield has not yet been told of the tragedy. He suffered a stroke recently and is still seriously ill.

Another brother, Raymond, officer in charge of the Grafton honor camp farm, which is a part of the OSR set up, was notified of the deaths yesterday afternoon. He also is ill and will not be able to attend the funeral services.

BURGLARY FAILS

Would-be burglars made a futile attempt to break into the Bun and Hipps pool room, North Main street early this morning. Police reported the rear door had been tampered with, but that entry had not been gained.

Child Care Study Opens

An exhaustive study of the needs of child welfare in Richland county was begun by two specialists assigned here by the Ohio Division of Social Administration. The study is expected to take more than two months.

The survey was undertaken by Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, assistant supervisor of field services, and Miss Mary Jane Paumier, child welfare consultant.

They were to confer today with George Reece, acting superintendent of the Children's home and his wife, Mrs. Laura Reece, acting matron of the home.

The specialists and Henry J. Robison, chief of the Ohio division of social administration, met with county commissioners yesterday afternoon to discuss the outline of the preliminary plans for the study.

Besides giving a report on the 80-year-old Children's home on Hedges street, they will contact the social agencies, aid to dependent children officials, Community Chest officials and Parent-Teachers associations.

The Richland county child welfare board, headed by John Finefrock, on June 3 recommended to the county commissioners that the present home be reestablished on a farm site near the city.
